

URS ANGONO HISTORY

On November 13, 1996, Hon. Mayor Saturnino Tiamson, Rizal State College President Dr. Heracleo Lagrada, and Hon. Governor Casimiro Ynares Jr., signed a Memorandum of Agreement on the operation of an extension campus in Angono following the passing of Resolution No. 96-128 dated September 17 by the Sangguniang Bayan ng Angono, and Resolution No. 449-96 of Mayor Saturnino Tiamson.

Temporarily situated at Angono National High School, Rizal State College Angono opened its doors to the community on June 16, 1997.

On December 7, 1997, the two-storey building with 20 classrooms intended for Angono Campus was inaugurated along Ibañez Street in front of Angono General Hospital and behind the Municipal Hall.

From 828 students, 16 dedicated workforce and three institutes: Institute of Cooperatives Economics and Management (ICEM), Institute of Arts and Sciences (IAS) and Institute of Education and Home Technology (IEHT) in 1997 to 1,046 students, 41 committed manpower and two colleges: the College of Arts and Letters (CAL) and the College of Education (COE) at present, Angono campus continues to serve not only the youth of Angono but also the youth of neighboring municipalities in the province of Rizal as the center for culture and the arts while also nurturing tomorrow's nation builders through its relevant program offerings.
